The network professional – DeltaSol® MX Plus

RESOL's newest highlight is not only a versatile system controller but also a real network professional.

The DeltaSol® MX Plus is equipped with an integrated Web server. Configuration, function control and access to VBus.net can be carried out easily and conveniently on any mobile device via a Web interface.

Interfaces such as LAN and Modbus RTU (optional) as well as WLAN functionality and a WLAN access point offer many connectivity options.

The integrated heating circuits – up to 7 with extension modules – can also be used for cooling purposes, by means of humidity sensors, dew point calculation can be effected in order to avoid condensation.

Like all RESOL system controllers, the MX Plus is equipped with numerous pre-programmed optional functions for many different applications.
